LEGEND

50X1-HUM

a. The most southern street which was marked on the plan as Magyar ut has been described [redacted] as Jozsef Attila ut. The pre-World War II military barracks which are marked under number 22 on the corner of Jozsef Attila ut and Voros Hadsereg ut (the former Vesspremi ut), are nearly completely dismantled. Being badly damaged during World War II, the barracks were never renovated and the surrounding inhabitants slowly "dismantled" the rest.

b. The street named Magyar ut is further north and [redacted] close to the town center.

c. The Soviet military barracks (No. 25 on the sketch) are located in a small street running east from Voros Hadsereg ut. [redacted] a rather small Soviet unit is occupying at present these barracks. The unit is equipped with some "T-34" tanks.

d. Following is the main coal dump, which is right [redacted] to the railway line (26).

e. North of the Soviet military barracks is the sports stadium (27.) North of which the town park is located (28.) In the northwestern corner of the park a church was constructed shortly before the war. [redacted] the pre-war "Erzsebet Liget" is now renamed into Uttoro Liget (Pioneer Park).

f. In accordance with the enlargement of the southern part of the town [redacted] the pre-war suburb village, G. Szabadhegy (29.) was incorporated into the town [redacted]. The railway station, which has still the name of the former village - now a suburb - (30) - is quite an important railway station, which concentrates railway traffic to the south.

g. West of Voros Hadsereg ut [redacted] location of a new municipal hospital, located on Felszabadulas ut. (formerly Sz. Haronszag ut). (31)

h. On the same street - almost opposite the hospital - the large barracks of the AVH Security Police was [redacted] in 1953 [redacted] the two-story modern barracks building [redacted] is the [redacted] yard. (32)

i. Another new building on the [redacted] street was finished in 1953 [redacted] [redacted] ut. This two-story modern light yellow building is occupied by the police reserve (33.)

j. [redacted] on the corner of Voros Hadsereg ut and Erzsebet Liget ut [redacted] the names of these streets have remained unchanged [redacted] although the park became a new name as it was already mentioned under f.) There is [redacted] another AVH building located now. [redacted]

k. The new refrigerator and deep freezing plant - one of the largest of its branch in Hungary - was constructed in 1953/54 on the western outskirts of the town close to the railway [redacted] line about one km west of the canal (34)

l. [redacted] the [redacted] County Administration Board [redacted] on Szeshenyi Ter is in fact on Liszt Ferenc ut (formerly Megyehas ut).
